Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

The following title is suggested: "Transmission of short message with a master unit".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated Allison et al. (US 2002/0159387 A1, hereinafter Allison).

Regarding claim 8, Allison discloses a communication terminal that is connected to a public line network for sending and receiving short message data to/from a center apparatus connected to the public line network to send and receive the short message data to/from another communication terminal via the center apparatus (paragraph 64; Fig. 7, where Allison discusses a sending short message service (SMS) message from mobile subscriber 100 to mobile subscriber 128 through a communication network 100 and using SMSC 118 as center). Allison discloses the communication terminal comprising a master unit and a slave unit for wireless communications with the master unit (see paragraph 64, where Allison discusses mobile subscriber 110 (slave) and base station system 112 (master) in the wireless communication network 400). Allison discloses the slave unit including input means for inputting short message data to be sent to the center apparatus (see paragraph 64, where Allison discusses mobile subscriber 110 originate an SMS message, which requires inputting means). Allison discloses output means for outputting short message data received from the center apparatus (see paragraph 64, where Allison discusses transmitting SMS message from mobile 110 to base station system 112).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-7 are allowed.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Metso et al. (US 5,920,826) discloses providing external display for SMS messages. Winbladh (US 6,205,330 B1) discloses an SMS gateway means and font conversion means. Zhang (US 2002/0019243 A1) discloses gateway apparatus to perform selection on short message center.
